

MEREDITH CONTINUES INTERNATIONAL BRAND EXPANSION

America's Leading Women's Magazine Publisher Extends Asia/Pacific Market Reach With Australia/New Zealand Edition of Diabetic Living Magazine

DES MOINES, IA (November 14, 2005) - Meredith Corporation (NYSE:MDP), one of America's leading magazine publishers, has expanded the reach of its magazine brands in the growing Asia/Pacific market.

Meredith and Pacific Magazines, one of Australia's leading media companies, have entered into an exclusive, multi-year licensing agreement to publish and distribute Better Homes and Gardens' Diabetic Living magazine in Australia and New Zealand. The inaugural customized edition of the fast-growing title is currently on sale in both countries.

"This agreement is yet another illustration of the progress we've made toward our strategic goal of extending our market-leading brands and content expertise around the globe," said John Zieser, Vice President Corporate Development, General Counsel and Secretary for Meredith Corporation.

Diabetic Living, which allows readers to rediscover delicious, no-sacrifice meals, is one of the most successful of Meredith's recent special interest publications. Launched in the U.S. initially as a newsstand title in 2004, it is now available as a subscription title as well. Diabetic Living delivers an abundance of useful health information, tantalizing recipes, tips for entertaining, and updates on the latest products, services, and advances in diabetes health.

"Following the great consumer response to the launch of Diabetic Living in the American market, we used the same model to create a version in response to our own market needs," said Paul Dykzeul, Publisher of Monthly Titles at Pacific Magazines. "Our aim is to fill the publishing void that exists in this specialized market, while offering valuable health and lifestyle information to those people who need it. To date, the launch has exceeded all of our expectations."

The partnership between Meredith and Pacific Magazines is an extension of their existing relationship. The companies have a similar agreement for publishing an Australian edition of Meredith's flagship magazine Better Homes and Gardens, which has been in the Australian market since 1978. Better Homes and Gardens Australia recently received the 2005 award for General Excellence in the Home and Food category at the annual Magazine Publishers of Australia's Magazine of the Year Awards in Sydney.

"Diabetic Living is an example of the strength and depth of Meredith's Special Interest Group, which offers titles related to home decorating and remodeling, food, gardening and crafts," said Bob Mate, Executive Vice President of Meredith's Publishing Group. "When we can combine our breadth of expertise with a local or regional publisher's knowledge of their market, the potential is very exciting."

In addition to its Australian magazines, earlier this year Meredith Corporation announced plans to publish a Chinese-language edition of Better Homes and Gardens magazine with SEEC Media Group Limited, a leading print media company in China.
