

Meredith Xcelerated Marketing Names Jeff Anulewicz Executive Director of Mobile Strategy

NEW YORK, N.Y. (DECEMBER 18, 2012) – Meredith Xcelerated Marketing (MXM), Meredith Corporation's (NYSE:MDP, www.meredith.com) global customer engagement agency, today announced that it has named Jeff Anulewicz as Executive Director of Mobile Strategy of MXM'S Mobile Practice, The Hyperfactory.

In this new role, Anulewicz will be responsible for helping MXM's clients develop strategic plans to achieve their mobile marketing goals. In particular, he will focus on creating innovative strategies and mobile solutions that elevate and build brands in today's highly competitive marketplace. Anulewicz will oversee the teams working in the strategy and analytics areas to help drive product innovation and consulting services.

"As clients become savvier and competition more diverse, the ability to diagnose and define proper uses of mobile marketing has become more critical than ever," says Douglas Rozen, SVP, General Manager, MXM's Mobile Practice, The Hyperfactory. "Jeff brings an incredible depth of experience in working with top tier clients who understand that creating an effective strategy behind their mobile marketing plans is essential for brand growth."

Anulewicz joins MXM with over 15 years of experience in the area integrating emerging technology with marketing. His background includes overseeing and launching the mobile marketing practice for Carlson Marketing, where he devised an industry-first mobile segmentation. At Carlson, Anulewicz worked with such well-known clients as Coca-Cola, Oracle, General Motors, Ford and Microsoft. He also co-developed a patent-pending mobile redemption offering for customer loyalty on mobile phones.

Anulewicz has also served as the Director of Mobile Business Strategy at Compuware, where he was responsible for the transformation of Compuware's mobile development organization into a leading strategic consultation practice working with a broad range of Fortune 500 clients.

Anulewicz is a graduate of Michigan State University.
