

DesignSingapore Council and FORTUNE Announce Global Business and Design Leaders to Participate in 2019 Brainstorm Design, March 5-7

NEW YORK, Dec. 3, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Today, FORTUNE announced more than 30 global business and design leaders who will participate in 2019 Brainstorm Design, scheduled to occur during Singapore Design Week on March 5-7 2019. Brainstorm Design is supported by the DesignSingapore Council (Dsg), the Singapore Economic Development Board (EDB), and Wallpaper*. Participants will share insights and strategies for design innovation at the event.

This year's theme, "Vision, Empathy, and Scale," explores and amplifies ideas raised in last year's inaugural gathering and highlights the gifts of designers from classical, commercial and computational backgrounds. Brainstorm Design brings together a broad spectrum of influential top designers and high-profile business leaders who command the capital, technology and human resources necessary to ensure great design can achieve maximum impact and scale. Among the topics discussed this year: the challenge of achieving "empathy at scale"; how companies can measure the return on their investments in design; the uses (and abuses) of design in the public sector; and designers' ethical responsibilities for safeguarding personal privacy.

Speakers announced today include: IDEO CEO and President Tim Brown; Amazon.com Vice President of Echo and Alexa Devices Miriam Daniel; Skewed Productions CEO and Creative Director Marcus Engman; Google Director of UX Design Kat Holmes; Miniwiz Founder and CEO Arthur Huang; University of Virginia Darden School of Business Professor Jeanne Liedtka; Adobe Design Vice President Jamie Myrold; PepsiCo Chief Design Officer Mauro Porcini; IBM Vice President of Design Doug Powell; Design as an Attitude Author Alice Rawsthorn; Studio Roosegaarde Artist and Founder Daan Roosegaarde; Dyson Chief Executive Officer James Rowan; Buro Ole Scheeren Architect and Principal Ole Scheeren; Gehl Founding Partner and CEO Helle S holt; and JPMorgan Chase & Co. Head of Digital, Commercial Real Estate, Commercial Banking Sam Yen.

Liedtka, Porcini, Rawsthorn, Roosegaarde, Scheeren, and Yen are also members of Brainstorm Design's Global Advisory Council, which gives counsel and recommends content for the program.

Additional speakers and a full agenda will be announced in the coming months.

Led by the editorial teams of FORTUNE and Wallpaper*, Brainstorm Design will feature multimedia presentations, interviews and intimate panel discussions on how design can help to transform businesses and enrich people's lives. Brainstorm Design will gather leading international design talents, as well as C-suite executives, including chief design officers, design practitioners, FORTUNE 500 senior executives, government leaders, decision makers in private and public sectors, and advocates of design thinking.

Brainstorm Design will help to increase the global mindshare of Singapore as a thought leader in design, while fostering new business leads and relationships for Dsg and EDB.

"We are more than delighted to host the top minds in business and design from some of the most successful and influential corporations in the world at Brainstorm Design 2019. In only our second year, we have made great strides in gaining recognition as a strategic location for global leadership in design innovation and thinking. Design is even more vital now for the world as we encounter increasing technological change, social evolution, and cultural disruption. As a driving force for innovation and creative transformation, and with empathy as its core principle, design is uniquely able to address both the soft and hard issues confronting the global community," said Mark Wee, Executive Director, Dsg.

"In our first year, Brainstorm Design showcased the ways in which the world's most successful businesses are harnessing the extraordinary power of design to transform their strategy, structure, and corporate culture. In 2019, we'll take that conversation to the next level. We'll explore the ways new technologies—including artificial intelligence, the proliferation of 'smart' devices, and advances in data analytics—are changing the way designers work. We'll talk about ethics, inclusivity, leadership, and the elusive ideal of 'empathy at scale,'" said Clay Chandler, Chair of Brainstorm Design and Asia Editor of FORTUNE.

Brainstorm Design co-chairs include Founder of TC & Friends Tony Chambers, and FORTUNE Europe Live Media Content Director Maithreyi Seetharaman.
